

German Retreat Under British Pressure Evacuate The Territory West of River Lys Near Warneeton

Huns Find Themselves In Critical Position Hurriedly Decamp

All The Territory From Near Warneeton, Southward Vacated—Patrols Fail To Find Single Prussian—Germans By Offensive At Vauxaillon Gain Practically Nothing—Driven Back By French, Who Batter Crown Prince, Between Mont Carnillet and Mont Blond—Great Battle Raging On Italian Front.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, June 21.—Some within the last twenty-four hours the Germans retreated out of the territory west of the river Lys near Warneeton southward. British patrols reported today they had failed to encounter a single Prussian in this section. The enemy evidently realized the critical position it occupied in the Lys river bend and hurriedly decamped in the face of the British pressure.

French Aggressive.
The strong German offensive against the French at Vauxaillon Monday in which trenches were stormed and captured was almost for naught, for the French force in a violent counter attack had regained nearly all their lost ground Tuesday night. Although the German crown prince had launched his attack with huge effectiveness, composed of picked troops, and covered it by a heavy artillery fire and by bomb dropping aircraft, his tenure of the captured positions was short lived and only a salient 400 metres northeast of the Moisy farm now remains in his hands. In addition, heavy casualties were inflicted on the Germans, who left many dead on the field of battle. Likewise in Champagne, the crown prince has been badly battered between Mont Carnillet and Mont Blond. In an attempt to recapture positions previously taken from them the Germans first were repulsed by the French, who then assumed the offensive and advanced their line on a front of more than 600 yards and to a depth in excess of 300 yards. Here also the Germans lost heavily in men killed or wounded.

Comparative Calm British Front.
Comparative calm prevailed at the front in France held by the British troops under Field Marshal Haig. Artillery duels are in progress on various sectors in Belgium, especially near Dixmude and Ypergaale. In the Russian theatre, according to the Berlin war office, the artillery of the Russians and Austro-Germans has increased in activity in Volhynia and Galicia. At several points the Russians have attempted to carry out raids against the Teutonic fronts, but are said to have been everywhere repulsed.

Of Great Proportions.
Little news explanatory of the real situation on the Italian front. The Austro-Italian zone has been relieved by unofficial reports say the battle, which is of great proportions, extends along the entire front from the Asiago plateau to the Asiago plateau. It is in this region that the Italians are endeavoring to break through the Austrian line to one of their main objectives—Trent. There also is much information coming through concerning the operations in Macedonia, except that artillery duels are in progress or have been in progress. There have been local engagements between the Bulgarians and British in the Struma valley.

Huns Violent Attack.
PARIS, June 21.—The war office has issued the following statement: "The attack made by the Germans on the positions east of Vauxaillon was extremely violent. It was preceded by heavy bombardment and conducted by special assaulting troops belonging to a fresh division which has just come from the Russian front. The Germans made every effort to procure some advantages, but they encountered desperate resistance on the part of our troops. Some slight gains which they obtained at first were finally overcome under our fire, and the German counter attacks succeeded only in penetrating our first line trenches in two places south of Mont des Singes on a front of about 400 metres and north of Moisy farm on a front of about 200 metres. "Our troops undertook an energetic counter offensive which permitted them this morning to retake part of the re-occupied positions south of Mont des Singes, where we found numerous bodies, indicating the heavy losses sustained by the enemy. We captured fifty prisoners and destroyed five aviation machines. "In the Champagne we made progress northeast of Mont Carnillet. Here we took some prisoners and captured five aviation machines. "Fourteen airplanes and a German captive balloon were destroyed on our side in the period from June 8 to 20. In addition, seven enemy machines seriously damaged fell in our hands. "In the same period our squadrons effected numerous sorties. They bombarded notably the railroad station at Bensdorf, factories of Hayatza-Jouff at Moyeuve, blast furnaces at Burbach and in the Saar valley, railroad stations at Bous, Chateau-Sur-Reunne, Mexterie, Charleville and Molsheim, the bivouacs in Suippe valley and munition depots in the region of Lancy. Thirteen thousand kilograms of projectiles were dropped during the expeditions which caused serious damage to enemy establishments remaining on the ground."

Pursue and Capture.
"In Champagne the advance made this morning by our troops northeast of Mont Carnillet was accomplished under particularly difficult positions. A German attempt about 3 o'clock in the morning to recapture positions which we had taken from them on the 18th between Mont Carnillet and Mont Blond was repulsed by our grenadiers, who, taking the offensive in their turn, pushed the enemy detachments into their own trench, which they captured. We made also an advance of 300 metres in depth on an extent of 400 metres. About 100 German dead remained on the ground. "Belgian communication. "Last night there was bomb fighting near the Ferryman's house and the usual artillery activity during the day. Artillery action took place in the region of Dixmude and near Ypergaale."

British Repulse Raiders.
LONDON, June 21.—"Hostile raiding parties were repulsed by our fire last night south of the Bapaume-Cambrai road, east of Laventie, in the neighborhood of Lombardzyde," said the British official communication issued this evening.

Air Force Party of the Enemy Succeeded in Entering One of Our Front Line Posts Near Lombardzyde, but was Soon Driven Out. A Few of Our Men are Missing.

Enemy's Artillery was Active During the Night South and North of the Scarpe River.

Airmen Bomb Camps.
PARIS, June 21.—Tonight's official communication has reported that only the following report in regard to the situation in Macedonia: "Eastern Theatre, June 20.—British aviators bombed camps and storehouses of the enemy at Kozanici, between Lake Dolan and the Vardar, and Vetrina on the Struma. Considerable damage was done."

PETROGRAD, June 21.—British Admiralty, per Wireless Press.—The Russian official statement today reads: "Fierce and aerial operations occurred on the Western (Russian) and Rumanian fronts."

On the Caucasus front, south of Erzingan, the Kurds attacked our positions and pushed back our detachments occupying them. By counter attack delivered by our reserves the Kurds were repulsed and fled.

A German airplane was brought down in an engagement in the region of Podgacze, two aviators being wounded and made prisoners."

COAL STRIKE IS AGAIN UP IN PARLIAMENT

Minister Of Labor Replying To Questions Has Nothing More Definite.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
OTTAWA, June 21.—When the house met this afternoon Messrs. LaPointe, Boier, Gauvreau, Fortier and other Liberal members from Quebec presented petitions against the conscription act.

Mr. Oliver pressed the minister of labor for a definite statement in regard to the opening of the coal mines in the west.

Mr. Crothers said that he could not say anything more definite than he had said yesterday. The government was taking steps to have the mines opened under its supervision.

Wm. Buchanan said he received telegrams from miners unions stating that they were willing to go back to work on the basis on agreement made between the men's policy committee and R. F. Green, M.P., their only objection was to the penalty clause of the agreement.

Mr. Crothers said that these statements were correct. Mr. Oliver impressed upon the minister the desirability of making a full statement as far as possible as the importance of the matter could not be overestimated.

Replying to a question from Mr. John Knowles, Mr. Crothers said that the government expects that the mines will be in operation again in a few days.

REGINA, Sask., June 21.—R. F. Green, commissioner appointed by the Dominion government to settle the coal strike, has wired the city of Regina the information that if the strike is settled on the conditions which he is offering, he will be able to add another 750 to the price of coal. The mayor has wired a protest to Ottawa.

(Special to the Bulletin)
ATHABASCA, June 21.—The election in this district is proceeding quietly. A. G. Mackay, the Liberal candidate, has held meetings in this town and at several points in the country. The meetings have been unusually well attended and the feeling throughout the district is practically unanimously in favor of Mr. Mackay.

Mr. Fugl's statement at his meeting last night, which he has since endeavored to deny, that it was more important to protect the natural resources of the north (which are owned by the Dominion) than to pursue Mr. Mackay's policy of building roads, bridges and telephones rather than the level-headed Conservatives of the district.

The truth is that the local Conservatives are reasonably well satisfied with Mr. Mackay and did not intend to oppose him if the Government were returned, but Mr. Mackay came up here with blank nomination papers for Dr. McInnis and Mr. Fugl. He secured signatures for Mr. Fugl's nomination. Mr. Crothers and Dr. Blow have been holding meetings for the past ten days with no perceptible results except that the people here know quite well that Calgary is well served with rail, but they do not quite think that Calgary is the whole province and therefore the anti-railway policy of the Opposition does not appeal to them.

Present indications are that Mr. Mackay will carry all polls on the south with overwhelming majorities. Money was offered today that Mr. Fugl will lose his deposit, but there were no takers.

WIDER MEASURE OF CONSCRIPTION

Appeals For Another Organized Effort For Voluntary Recruiting.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
OTTAWA, June 21.—This was an eventful day in parliament. Many short and vigorous speeches were made on the conscription bill and the interest throughout was keen.

Fred Pardee, chief Liberal whip, declared emphatically in favor of the principle of conscription. In breaking with his leader on this issue he said it was the most painful moment in his political life. While favoring conscription he asserted that there had been a lack of leaders and leadership, and that parliament and the government must atone for the shortcomings of the past. He asked for a wider measure of conscription and appealed to the government to make another well organized effort to secure the men required by voluntary enlistment before bringing the bill into force.

Morebund Parliament
George McCraney of Saskatoon, the first western Liberal apart from Hon. Frank Oliver to speak in the debate, also strongly approved of the principle of conscription and disapproved of the referendum amendment made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He believed, however, that Sir Wilfrid was actuated by what he believed to be the highest patriotic motives. Mr. McCraney feared, however, that it would be disastrous for the government to attempt to enforce conscription in certain parts of Canada. Its operation, he said, should be delayed until after a general election.

Hon. Arthur Meighen believed that the government had adopted the only possible course open to it in view of the failure of voluntary enlistment. He said that the bill would promote unity instead of disunity and that it would fall less heavily upon Quebec than any other of the provinces.

L. J. Gauthier, of St. Hyacinthe, thought otherwise and closed a speech which had opened with bantering criticism of the government with the prediction that the consequences of its attempt to enforce conscription in

BRITISH HOLD ALL VANTAGE POINTS ON LINE

Major General Maurice Reviews The Fighting During The Past Week.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
LONDON, June 21.—With the recent capture in the Meuse region the British now hold all the vantage points along their line on the Franco-Belgian front, as the result of which there has been an enormous decrease in the number of British casualties.

General Maurice pointed out that when the Germans were stopped in their drive on Calais early in the war they decided on defensive warfare in the west and established themselves on such dominating heights as those of the Somme and of Meuse.

"All these positions have now been wrested from the Germans," continued General Maurice. "Our western front is approximately 130 kilometers long, and we are in the German trenches for this entire length, with the exception of a few sections which total about 25 kilometers. Naturally, since we now hold the dominating positions there is an enormous reduction in our casualties."

General Maurice contradicted reports that the Germans have drawn large forces from the eastern front to take part in the fighting in France.

"The fact is," added the general, "that there has been no considerable movement of German troops from the east to the west. The Germans have sent fresh units to the western front, but these were made up largely of men called to the colors recently. They were found using the whole people in the occupied territories to replace laborers at home, who are thus released for the army."

FINED FOR TRADING WITH THE ENEMY

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
MEDICINE HAT, Alta., June 21.—Two Germans named Dorsch and Wegerick were each fined $200 and costs for trading with the enemy. They were found guilty of sending money to Germany through the United States and Holland.

R. J. Hunt and E. N. Nyland were found guilty of robbing stores in Medicine Hat and were each fined $500. Hunt got three years and Nyland suspended sentence on condition that he enlist.

CROWD TEARS DOWN PACIFIST BANNERS IN WASHINGTON

Culmination Of Anti-Suffrage Demonstration At White House.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, June 21.—The persistence of suffrage sentinels at the White House in holding banners bearing inscriptions interpreted as being "treasonable" culminated in an anti-suffrage demonstration today, when a crowd of nearly a thousand persons tore down the banners for a second time. The inscription on the banner today was the same as the one displayed yesterday, accusing President Wilson and Elihu Root of "deceiving Russia" and saying the United States is not democratic and pleading with the Russian mission to demand the enfranchisement of women in the United States.

REGIMENT OF GIRLS FIGHTS FOR RUSSIA

Spartan Regime Inures "Command Of Death" For Battlefield.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
Petrograd, June 21.—"The Command of Death," which is the official title of the Women's regiment led by the twice-wounded girl officer Vera Bulchakoff, will be reviewed today by Minister of War Kerensky. The regiment will have its first public parade on Sunday and will leave in a fortnight for the front, probably for the Minsk sector.

The girls are mostly between 18 and 25 years of age, of good physique and many of them pretty. They wear their hair short or have their heads entirely shaven.

Commander Lieut. Bulchakoff explained that most of the recruits were from the higher educational academies or secondary schools, with a few peasants, factory girls and servants.

We apply the rigid system of discipline of the pre-revolutionary army, rejecting the new principle of soldier self government. Having no time to insure the girls gradually to hardships we impose a Spartan regime from the first. They sleep on boards without bed clothes, thus immediately eliminating the weak. The smallest breach of discipline is punished by expulsion in disgrace. The girls carry the standardly carbine, which is five pounds lighter than the regular army rifle.

"We are fully official and are already entered on the list of regiments. We receive uniforms and supplies as regular members of the military of war, to which we render account and present reports. Yesterday the commander of the Petrograd military district reviewed us and expressed his satisfaction. I am convinced that we will excel the male fighters."

Declares For Extension Of Credit To Small And Weak Countries.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 21.—Extension of credit to small and weak countries is one of the most powerful influences that the United States and her allies may develop against Germany and Austria, said Dr. Edward E. Pratt, chief of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, in an address before the National Association of Credit Men in convention here today.

"We know," said Dr. Pratt, "from the limited amount of news that trickles through the Central Powers that very ambitious plans are being made to dominate the world's trade after the war. A speaker at an Austrian meeting of invited manufacturers is quoted as stating that plans have been perfected whereby after the war 120,000,000 people, the total population of Germany and Austria-Hungary, will buy their supplies from the rest of the world as a unit."

"We know that the various industries of Germany have been more and more consolidated into co-operating groups until virtually all German industry has united as one producing and selling agency backed with the full power of the great German banks and the organization of the German government."

NEWS PRINT $50 A TON
OTTAWA, June 21.—Commissioner Pringle, at the conclusion of the news print investigation this afternoon announced that as he had not been able to determine a fair selling price for newsprint paper upon the mass of evidence he has heard, he would recommend the minister of finance a further fixing of the price at $50 a ton. This means the rate will be in force until August 1 of this year.

BAPTISTS WILL CO-OPERATE WITH OTHER DENOMINATIONS IN SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK

Convention Votes Unanimously To Form A Committee To Act With Methodist, Presbyterian And Other Bodies In Province—Standard Efficiency Tests Explained—Young Peoples Societies Urged To Organize Along Lines Of The Christian Endeavor Movement.

Interdenominational co-operation in Sunday school work was endorsed at the Thursday afternoon session of the convention of Alberta Baptists churches, which after hearing the presentation of several interesting and helpful papers on different phases of method and co-operation in the Sunday school work and the explanation of the standard efficiency tests, adopted unanimously, a motion to appoint a committee to co-operate with the committees already appointed by the Methodist and Presbyterian denominations and other committees yet to be appointed by other denominations of Alberta in a scheme of co-operation to encourage and further develop the activities of the Sunday schools of Alberta.

This is the second important motion that has been carried unanimously by the Baptist convention signifying their desire to ally with other Christian workers in the province in a co-operative effort for the betterment of the province. At the morning session it was decided that their young people should ally themselves under the Christian Endeavor banner with the young men's and women's societies of the churches. During the afternoon session and free-for-all discussions there was an apparent tendency to increase the general standard of efficiency of all departments of the work of the church and the common thought seemed to be that by co-operation the allies in Christian work could thereby secure greater efficiency.

Standard of Efficiency
The Sunday school standard of efficiency of the Baptist Union was briefly outlined by A. W. Ward, superintendent of a Baptist Sunday school at Calgary. He urged specially for the adoption of the standard of efficiency, the graded lessons, and the organization of classes. During the question period he favored the proposition of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. to have the Sunday schools of the various denominations. He told of his own class of boys in the Strathcona Baptist church, which before the war had a membership of 19 boys. In the last session, 2 had been killed in action, 3 were wounded. Three joined the Forestry battalion and the others went to the front. He said that he was writing letters each week and then all sign the letters. He said that he was doing gardening work for the families of the boys who enlisted. He mentioned that already at the request of the city police in the prevention of juvenile crime. A committee of the boys were also taking charge of the publication of news of boys' activities in the papers in a special column for boys' clubs.

The work of the superintendent was briefly discussed by Mrs. E. L. Hill, Mrs. Davis and Mr. Hilton, followed by a general discussion summed up by J. H. Tabor.

Teacher Training
In a capable address, G. Fred McNair, principal of the Lamore Normal school, gave an outline of a practical scheme of teacher training. He favored the class in teacher-training meeting at the same hour as the other classes of the Sunday school.

The secretary A. W. Ward read the report regarding the Sunday School Federation for Alberta, which scheme, it seems, is to replace the old time Alberta Sunday School association, and is modelled on similar lines to that working with success in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Parish, that the convention enter into the co-operative arrangement with the federation of other denominations in Sunday school work. It was carried unanimously and a small nominating committee appointed to nominate the Baptist committee for the Sunday school federation.

By unanimous vote the convention recommended that the Young People's Societies be urged to organize under the Christian Endeavor movement. This motion was carried at a Thursday morning session by a standing vote after a lengthy discussion and the withdrawal of an amendment that it be laid on the table.

The pastors of the rural churches made a strong plea for the association of the rural districts of Alberta in the Young People's Societies or form separate denominational societies.

Report on Young People's Work.
The report of Young People's Work, which had been previously presented, said that of the ten young people's societies in the Baptist churches of Alberta that four were now Christian Endeavor, three were called Baptist Young People's Societies and three had no distinguishing name but were simply called Young People's Societies. The membership of the ten societies totals 309.

Seven Minute Papers.
A very interesting feature of the program was the seven minute papers on various phases of the Young People's Work followed by a series of two minute free-for-all discussions on the general topics. Rev. Alex. Fraser told how to secure an ideal weekly meeting. Mrs. M. H. French in an excellent paper, urged for a more systematic study of missions not only for the sake of the mission, but also for the benefit of the improvement developed in the students who through studying the conditions in foreign lands, received a valuable training in Christian citizenship.

Rev. R. G. Blundell discussed the Y.P.S. as a power in the church. W. G. Carpenter in a scholarly paper described the Y.P.S. as a medium of expression.

As a culmination of his address on a unified program for provincial work, Rev. W. M. Armstrong moved the motion already adopted, endorsing the Christian Endeavor Society.

A very sincere and earnest paper was given by Miss N. E. Houlding on evangelism and soul winning in the Sunday school and the young people's society.

Personal Evangelism.
Geo. Hilton, a commercial man, in discussing "personal evangelism" made a brief but outspoken speech. He declared that 90 per cent of the children knew absolutely nothing about God. "While our church," he said, "pretends to stand for Christian teaching yet they are leading to a form that is supposed to be a real live Christ. Tear the clothes of formality open and let us have God. Have we God in our business? Have we banished all the evil from the grinding of the poor? If not why not? There is no more God in business than in a corpse. We need God in our homes and in our business."

Evening Session
The evening session, which was well attended in spite of the threatening weather, took the form of a consecration service for the young people, which was conducted by Rev. D. M. Thompson, the pastor of McDonald church. The roll call of the societies was responded to by the delegates present. Those from the First Baptist and Methodist churches sang a hymn. The representative of the Young Men's and Women's societies of the Great Lakes of the War.

General remarks were felt by all attending the meeting when it was announced that C. R. Sayer of Winnipeg, general secretary of the Baptist Union of Canada, had just received a telegram informing him that his son, Malcolm, had been killed in action at the front. The convention stood for a moment in silent prayer, and later resolutions of condolence and sympathy were passed, to be forwarded to Mr. Sayer.

Resolutions of thanks to the members of the other Baptist churches in Edmonton, which were presented by Brandon college, will speak on the subject, "How Are We Going to Educate Our Children Religiously? If the Baptists Don't Believe that Religion Should Be Taught in the Public Schools, How Are They Going to Be Taught?" Rev. A. G. Baker, of Bolivia, S. A., a missionary of twelve years' experience and a prominent member of the Panama convention of South American missions, will speak on "Conditions in South America at the Beginning of the Twentieth Century."

"A SOIL SLACKER"
SIOUX CITY, Iowa, June 21.—D. Foster, of Sergeant Bluff, arrested on complaint of his neighboring farmers that he was a soil slacker because he put under cultivation only five of his eighty acres, was fined $50 by Justice Higgins here on the technical charge of neglecting his livestock, there being no law against slacking as a farmer.

"We farmers are preoccupied with the name of humanity," said Ernest Brown, one of the complaining witnesses. "It is disgraceful to see the land going to waste when the production is needed so badly."

CHAMPION CYCLISTS COMING TO PANTAGES

Charlie Ahearn, the sensational and amusing cyclist will be the featured act on the Pantages program next week with his troupe of comedy bicycle riders who have electrified crowds in every corner of the globe. Ahearn has a reputation as an entertainer that has been equalled by no other cyclist. Geoffrey and Henderson with "Catskill, N. Y." provide comedy of a distinctive character with interpolated songs; Nelson and Nelson offer athletic specialties; Herman and Kane dispense both harmony and fun, and "The Birth of a Rose" is dancing specially brought here from California.

"The Mimic World," with a troupe of exceptionally talented youngsters is making a big hit this week at Pantages. The young singers and dancers present such a variety of specialties that their audiences are dazzled. Impressions of some of the leading stage celebrities, including a violinist, dancers, singers, a "prop" boy and even Oscar Hammerstein, the impresario are within their range of ability and talent. Other turns on this bill include Joe Roberts, the banjoist who is welcomed back this week by Edmontonians with a whoop and hurrah, and the Lampinis, prestidigitators.

MELODRAMA "THE WHIP"

HERE IN FILMS

There is a certain type of spectacular melodrama, once very popular, that has passed, probably forever, from the legitimate stage to the screen, because it can be done so much better in the movies. "The Whip," the picture attraction which is attracting appreciative audiences to the Empire theatre this week, demonstrates once again that such is the fact. "The Whip" will doubtless pass into theatrical history as the last of the old-fashioned melodramas to score a hit on this continent. It will be remembered that the play, originally one of the famous Cecil Raleigh and Hamilton productions at Drury Lane, London, was taken to New York about five years ago, where it enjoyed a vogue that surprised everyone, running for the entire season. It played a few other cities but it really did not stir much enthusiasm. The public found the sensational scenes too mechanical, so that the train wreck and the horse race did not produce a thrill. Now the story is utilized for a silent drama, where it is presented in a highly realistic manner, with train wrecks and races that look like the real thing. The movies make the incidents of "The Whip" seem actually to happen. There will be a special matinee for children at 10:30 Saturday morning when all the school children in the city will have an opportunity to see "The Whip."

Photoplays

Publicity men tell of current attractions on the screen in Local Picture Houses

MONARCH—As the final scenes were taken of Norma Talmadge's Selznick-Pictures production of "Poppy," made from Cynthia Stockley's fascinating story of the love-starved South African girl, the conviction was hammered home that this feature photoplay is destined to create a sensation surpassing that of the novel. From producer to "props" enthusiasm about the studio for this picture reached unprecedented heights. Of all the popular novels that have been visualized, it is doubtful if any possessed anything like the potential qualities of "Poppy," now at the Monarch theatre. Romance, action, surprise, suspense and all the component parts of drama vie for supremacy on every page, and in transferring to the screen the exasperation of the director was to determine what to omit, so bountiful is the material. That Norma Talmadge, in her depiction of Cynthia Stockley's heroine, Poppy, destined to the child of nature over whose trials and tribulations a whole world has wept, is to achieve the greatest triumph of her illustrious career, was predicted by those privileged to see the first running of the completed portion of the picture. Miss Talmadge has grasped with almost unvarying appreciation the author's conception, and imbued with the spirit of the story and a sympathetic feeling for its principal figure, she has given a characterization which will redound immeasurably to her glory.

The feature film to be presented at the Monarch next week includes Pauline Frederick in "Her Better Self," on the same program with "A Reckless Romeo," featuring Fatty Arbuckle.

MAJESTY—The appearance of Madame Petrova in the six reel Metro special "Extravagance," broke all Thursday night attendance records at the Majesty last night. Say what you may, but there is only one Petrova and she is the only one who could take the part of Norma Russell, the extravagant daughter of a reckless and extravagant father; a wonderful story of every day society life—the life of luxury, the gradual coming to the end of the big bank roll, and finally disaster, the selling of the family furniture. Norma's betrothed does not appear on the scene until the whole home is nearly wrecked. His coming is most sensational, and at the expense of his thriving business, he pays off the dishonest bank president, and is himself ruined, and finally takes a position with the president to provide actual necessities of life, for he has married Norma. The banker fastens a theft on him by changing the books. How the president is finally rounded up and killed is only a few of the many thrilling episodes in this wonderful picture, shown for the last time today. Tomorrow will be screened the well known English coster play, "The Heart of Child," with Edna Flugrath, one of England's most popular screen stars.

THEDA BARA IN A VAMPIRE CHARACTER

Theda Bara portrays the vampire character of Elsin Drummond in "The Vixen," the new William Fox play which is at the Empire theatre today and Saturday, with the same fineness which have been on this theatre's screen, and which have made her name a byword in the homes of Canada and the United States. The story has been written with the express purpose of forming a vehicle for Miss Bara, and is attributed to the pen of J. Gordon Edwards. It introduces the audience to a people of varied characteristics, among whom are a father, who through drink and its consequences has become the care of the family; two daughters, the first the evil one of the title role, and a second a young woman of admirable and unselfish qualities. The son of the family is presented as a weakling tending toward crime; while two other men of manly type, one of them being in the consular service, and the other a wealthy lawyer, become the unwilling and unsuspecting victims of the "vixen." The story shows how the wicked sister in fear that she be left to care for her father alone, manipulates by means of many lies and much plotting so that her sister's love affairs are always upset, and the man's affections transferred to herself. The first man she kills because of his financial reverse, which, incidentally, are indirectly a product of her brother's evil doing. The second she marries and leads him a miserable life through her extravagances. In the final throw her true character is revealed to her sister, who finally becomes the happy wife of the man who was jilted by the "vixen," the latter being thoroughly chastened by the experience.

once preceding it. Patrons should keep an open date for one of the first four days of next week, when there comes to the Empire the great Vilagroph masterpiece, "The Girl Philippa," with Anita Stewart in the title role. The story is from the pen of Robert W. Chambers, and has been given exceptionally favorable notices in the trade papers. Miss Stewart has won her way into the hearts of thousands of movie fans, and in "The Girl Philippa," she achieves another remarkable triumph, said the New York Telegram in its criticism of the feature.

"THE WEAKNESS OF MAN" AT THE DREAMLAND

Holbrook Blinn, legitimate star and great photoplay favorite, who has already appeared in several World Film successes, will next be seen in "The Weakness of Man," being the picturization of a drama based on Count Leo N. Tolstoy's last play, "The Living Death," telling in a forcible and decisive manner how difficult it is to combat the weaknesses of man once they are thoroughly ingrained within a man's soul. A strong struggle between the good, pious and loving wife against the attraction of a viracious girl-of-the-world type of woman, whose lax moral code is overshadowed by her ability to make men dreamland theatre today and tomorrow.

H. A. MACKIE FINDS MARE'S NEST STATEMENTS ARE EXPOSED

In Fort McMurray Speech Says Liberals Are Trying to Take Away Votes by Location of Polls—Facts Are That Polls Were Placed With Full Knowledge and Consent of Conservative Candidate.

(Special to the Bulletin)

Fort McMurray, June 21.—H. A. Mackie, Conservative candidate for Edmonton, held a meeting here last night to discuss the campaign that three polls were being established along the A. & G. W. line and that he meant to do more than to beat the Liberals and that the Liberals were trying to take the vote without the Conservatives knowing it. This statement is in direct contradiction to what the returning officer at Athabasca has arranged with Mr. Fugl and his committee to do. The meeting was a convenient point to take this vote, and everything is being done with the full knowledge and approval of Mr. Fugl and his committee. The men on the grade, who are in three grades, moved from the usual position of the grade and the only change that is being made is that the polls will be held where the men are on election day and not 20 miles away from the grade.

The report comes here that Mr. Fugl's workers have been on the grade since the 15th of June and that they and know all the facts. Fort McMurray will give a good account of itself on election day. The people here know that the government and Mr. Fugl have been looking after their interests.

The report that the work of cutting out the vote of the grade was first refused by the government but that Mr. MacKay came here last week and that he had the election and that he promised the work would be done absolutely false. Mr. MacKay promised last fall when the people petitioned for the grade that the work would be done as early this summer as the ground was dry and operations could be started. He has not kept his word when he was here last week he simply stated that that promise would be kept and that he would not explain why he is supporting Mr. Fugl and yet why he is in conversation with the Hon. J. A. McArthur and other Conservative leaders. The electors here do not quite understand where he and Mr. Fugl stand with respect to the grade.

BIG CIRCUS HERE FOR TWO DAYS; ONE STREET PARADE—THIS MORNING

Patterson-Gollmar Bros. Shows Arrived This Morning Over The C.P.R.—The Only Street Parade Takes Place Today At Ten O'Clock—All Kinds of Amusements On Tap.

Today is the big fed letter day for the small boy; also for the small boy's pa and ma and sister and uncle and aunt, and don't forget grandpa and grandma.

Golmar Bros.' circus is in town and from now on until said small boy's trees are no three feet tall, the small boy's sister will be something popping every minute.

The show, which is said to be by all the best in the west that has visited Edmonton for some time, arrived this morning over the C.P.R. from Wetaskiwin, where it was advertised on account of falling out of the sky.

of canvas will be looming up in the air at the show grounds.

Remember One Parade Only.

Then along about 11 o'clock comes the big parade, the one and only, "the grand free street parade," with its bands seated in magnificent band wagons, drawn by six and eight animals; its tableaux wagons; its elephants; and its prancing steeds carrying beautiful riders in the most fashionable costume—makes the rounds of the principal streets. There will be only one parade, that of today, Friday, on Jas-

It took 25 big double-length cars to bring the show into town.

First Call For Breakfast.

And as the show is reading this the smoke will be curling from the big ranges near the cook-tent, and hundreds of hungry workmen and performers and homes and pink balloons are waiting awaiting the first call for breakfast.

Similarly the big horse tents will be up and the couple of hundred beautiful horses of the Western Bros. will be receiving the attention of the scores of careful attendants.

The circus is located on the old hospital grounds on Kinslino avenue, two blocks north of the city hall.

The unloading will be done as rapidly as possible and the "big white city"

And Then The Big Show.

This afternoon at one o'clock the doors will open and at two o'clock the show will begin. The doors will be open at seven and the performance begins at eight.

Warm praise has been given Fatsieon-Gollmar Bros. at every town where they have appeared, especially if the weather is favorable. Edmonton will have the biggest crowd out today and tomorrow that has been seen on the stage of the city.

There has been some criticism with regard to prices at Medicine Hat and the management has asked the Bulletin to say that the authorized prices are 25 cents for the ordinary entrance and fifty cents extra for the best reserved seats if they are desired.

WANTS DAMAGES TOTTALLING $2,980	OBJECTS RINGING OF CHURCH BELLS
Joseph Hehsdoefer Says City Has Altered Grade and His House Flooded	J. H. Barrie Asserts That He Is Losing His Tenants Because Of Sound

Joseph Hohsdoerfer through Messrs. Byers and Heffernan, is claiming $2,380 from the city for alleged damage to his property, which consists of a lot and house, 9356 Strathcona Road. It is said that the grade of the road was altered in 1911, and in consequence the basement was flooded, the walls fell in, and a considerable amount of damage was done to the building.

The owner says that at the time he was able to rent it at $35 per month, but since has not been able to rent the place. He now claims damages made up of $35 rent for 11 months, $11 in loss of interest on the $385, and $400, and $60 spent by him on repair work in the basement.

There is a property owner in Edmonton, J. H. Barrie, owner of the Barrie Block on Nainayaw avenue, who has a very strenuous objection to the daily ringing of church bells, which he says is the cause of losing his tenants.

In a letter to council he says that one good tenant has been lost, and another now contemplates moving away, because the bells of the Russian church are ringing at 4 a.m. every morning, and with an extra amount on Sunday.

He asks whether there is not a by-law prohibiting church bells being rung except when the main bells are rung, and if it would not be possible for council to request the Russian church to refrain from disturbing the peace.

There were representatives from the various mission fields present, continued Mrs.

The Daily Poem

Au Revoir.
Because I have your image in my heart,
I say just "au revoir," and not
"farewell."
You will be with me wherever I dwell,
And all my life will hold your separate part;
Now here, now there, a memory will dare,
Like "leaving sun at dawn" some tawny fell
And show you clear and plain.
Where this may be; the future hides its chain.
So "au revoir" the word for me shall be—
"To our next seeing"—we translate it thus,
Bravely ignoring time and space and change,
I dare the wild and separating sea
To do its worst at disengaging us.
For you will be with me wherever I range.
—Thomas Redburn.

Quayle, and they all asked for more earnest prayers to be made daily for their progress. It was also requested that each society take up some definite special work outside of the regular work planned. Mrs. Quayle also stated that it was decided that the branch build a nurses' home near the Lamont hospital. The accommodation of the present building is taxed to the utmost with patients and there is no room for the nurses. Mrs. Quayle brought home some maps and literature on mission work as a guide and assistance in the future study as well as an inspiration. The "which" spirit of the convention, she said, was the desire to study and to know more of missions.

Mrs. Ottewill, also a delegate at the branch meeting, followed with an exceptionally good report of mission circle department. Mrs. Bailey sang very effectively the appropriate selection "Is that somebody, You?" At the close of the meeting the members repaired to the home of the oldest and much respected member, Mrs. Edmonds, to extend birthday greetings on her eightieth birthday.

Knox W.M.S. held a splendid meeting on Thursday afternoon, when the members were addressed by Miss Jesse Montgomery on "Bible stories and how to tell them." The subject arose from the expression of some mothers, who complained of a difficulty in telling Bible stories to their children. Miss Montgomery said that the trouble often was that the black covered, fine typed and thumb-marked copy was unattractive and children took a dislike or distaste to the Bible for these reasons, and it often happened that when the stories were edited nicely, made modern and attractive, without being marked for reference, that the children listened and enjoyed where there had been failure before. Then the stories had been shamefully abused by being told in a melodramatic style, which lost much if not entirely the purpose. Miss Montgomery suggested a regular course of three Bible stories, which the child should also be studied for what would be suitable for one would not another. Above all, the individual should not introduce her own ideas and morals, but should give them in a natural sequence. Mothers or persons telling the story should be sure of the story and sure of the child and avoid interruption. Miss Montgomery was so convincing that it made listeners wish for the opportunity of putting her suggestions into practice.

Mrs. Frank Lewis, of Calgary, who is attending the convention of the Order of the Eastern Star, is a guest of Mrs. Roy S. Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Crawford, of Brampton, Ont., are guests of Mr. Crawford's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Macdonald, 87th avenue.

Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Quayle left for the east Wednesday night.

PREMIER'S DAUGHTER WEDS.

Montreal, June 21.—An exceptional feature of the wedding of Lloyd George's daughter, the Gazette's London correspondent cables, is the fact that it is the first instance in history of a premier's daughter being married in a Nonconformist place of worship and the chapel selected is one of the small toothbrush in the metropolis.

You will find that common baking soda will work miracles. Use two pails of water, wet your cloth, sprinkle a little of the soda on it and wash the space within your reach. Rinse half hours, add two ways of water, one whole onion, two potatoes, pared and dropped in whole, and let simmer one hour longer. Take out the onion, make a thickening of flour and water, add two tablespoonsful of diluted vinegar, let boil five minutes and serve.

Washing Bird Cages.
To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—Please tell me how to wash a bird's cage so that it can be kept clean unless it is washed frequently.

(Mrs.) C. M. J.
It is certainly necessary to wash a bird's cage frequently. Your informant probably meant the wooden perches. These should be washed as the wood stays damp for so long a time that the bird is in danger of contracting a cold or rheumatism. They can be cleaned by scraping with fine sandpaper.

Famous Women
Mademoiselle Tillet
Have you ever heard of Mademoiselle Tillet? If not, you shall hear about her now, for surely she has, for it was on her account that a duel was fought, a duel in which the two rivals for her favor fought each other in balloons. It was 1788 that Mlle. Tillet graced the footlights of the Imperial Opera at Paris. She attracted many men, especially one, M. de Grandpre, another, M. le Pique, and decided that a duel was the only way out of the predicament. It was postponed the duel for some months. Meanwhile they came to the conclusion that an ordinary duel wouldn't do at all and they hit upon the brilliant idea of fighting in balloons. At the appointed hour each man entered his balloon armed with a blunderbuss, and at a signal the ropes were cut and up they went. They were to fire at balloons, not at each other. At a height of half a mile in the air M. de Grandpre sent a ball through M. le Pique's balloon and the latter was dashed to pieces. The other landed safely several hours later, his honor intact.

Hester Stanhope
On June 23, 1839, Hester Stanhope, a heartily English lady, died at Ptolemais, Syria. She had resided there for nearly thirty years and was celebrated for her eccentricity and singular mode of life. She was a friend of William Pitt and abandoned civilized society to reside among the Arabs, over whom she acquired great command. She died virtually as the queen and ruler of the little, obscure corner of the earth in which she had lived the best years of her life. Only a few faithful Arabs were with her when she breathed her last.

Today's Anniversaries
Johann Huss, the Bohemian clergyman who had advocated the opinions of Wycliffe, was burned at the stake at Prague, June 22, 1415.

On the same day in the year 1691 Holmstet IV of Turkey was assassinated in prison. The beginning of his reign was eminently successful and he was victorious in many wars, but was defeated by the valorous John Sobieski. The calamities which befell the Turks were attributed to the Sultan and the Janizaries deposed him.

On June 22, 1778, congress resolved to grant a credit of $2,000,000.

REMOVING UNEMPLOYED POOR
Copenhagen, June 21.—The municipal authorities of Warsaw, with the co-operation of the German administration, are transporting from Warsaw to the villages and country districts the unemployed poor, largely composed of Jews. The measure is inspired by the difficulties of the food supply in the capital and the improvement in the capital and the improvement in the opportunities for work in the country.

Eastern Star Chapter Closes

Marked by much activity of business transacted the last day of the sixth annual chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star closed Thursday evening at the Masonic Temple with a very successful meeting, well attended, at which the opening and balloting of Edmonton Chapter, No. 19, took place, degree work by Areme Chapter, No. 11, and closing by Norwood Chapter, No. 24. During the evening, Mrs. Cora L. Graham was presented with a magnificent bouquet of roses by the Areme Chapter. The morning session was devoted entirely to the reports of the standing committees. The afternoon session was the installation of grand chapter officers, at which many presentations took place. The retiring grand matron, Mrs. Graham, was presented with the past grand matron's jewel and also received a plaque from her chapter. The retiring grand patron received the past grand patron's button or star. Mrs. Margaret E. Carter, the incoming grand matron, was presented with a mirror, vase set in silver, and from her son and daughter received a pendant and chain. The Athabasca chapter presented Mrs. Kizzie C. Dallas with a beautiful floral gift. The automobile drive had been cancelled on account of the weather, but the banquet at the Corona Hotel, at 6:30, was a splendid success and several bright and witty speeches were made during the meal.

BANK CLEARINGS.

Bank clearings for the week ending Thursday total $2,487,654.34. The figure for the corresponding week last year was $1,915,330.75.

FOUR IN TRAGEDY.
New York, June 21.—Following a quarrel with his wife over money matters, Richard Barrett, a well known athlete of Brooklyn, early today shot and killed his wife, his son Milton, age four, a baby boy, Donald, one and one-half years old, and then committed suicide by slaying himself, and by shooting himself in the head.

THE MACDONALD.
H. C. Hassard, City; Max Shapera, Calgary; R. H. Brown, Saskatoon; J. H. Brown, Brandon; T. P. Riley, claim to fame if any woman has, for it was on her account that a duel was fought, a duel in which the two rivals for her favor fought each other in balloons. It was 1788 that Mlle. Tillet graced the footlights of the Imperial Opera at Paris. She attracted many men, especially one, M. de Grandpre, another, M. le Pique, and decided that a duel was the only way out of the predicament. It was postponed the duel for some months. Meanwhile they came to the conclusion that an ordinary duel wouldn't do at all and they hit upon the brilliant idea of fighting in balloons. At the appointed hour each man entered his balloon armed with a blunderbuss, and at a signal the ropes were cut and up they went. They were to fire at balloons, not at each other. At a height of half a mile in the air M. de Grandpre sent a ball through M. le Pique's balloon and the latter was dashed to pieces. The other landed safely several hours later, his honor intact.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

HERO OF VIMY RDGE TELLS EXPERIENCES MOST PAINFUL MOMENT IN HIS POLITICAL LIFE

Pte. Clark, 5th University Corps, Describes Life At The Front.

The Carman Methodist church, Bonnie Doon, was well attended on Wednesday night when Private G. H. Clark, of the 5th University Corps, attached to the Princess Patricia Light Infantry, gave a most interesting and instructive talk on his experiences as a soldier.

It is to be regretted that so few men turned out to hear the address, only six being present. However, the ladies and children took a keen interest and evidently appreciated the remarks of the speaker. George Dewe acted as chairman and briefly alluded to a few of the things that had been done in this and the neighboring districts towards helping the returned veterans.

He said that considering the great sacrifices that our brave men had made on behalf of those left behind, nothing was too good and every effort should be made to show these brave fellows that we took an interest in their welfare and made some attempt to show them we greatly appreciated their noble work on behalf of liberty and justice.

The first verse of "O Canada" was sung very heartily at the commencement of the meeting. Miss Hilda Allbrecht then sang very nicely the well-known song "Just Before the Battle, Mother" and Mrs. J. Smith favored the audience by singing in good style "The Long Trail."

Gets Hearty Reception.
Private Clark on rising to address the gathering met with a most hearty round of applause. He said that in November of 1915 he enlisted in this city and early in December the month following left for Montreal to undergo four months' training.

He laid special emphasis on the fact that to him and he believed the great majority of men in the front the hardest task they faced in their experiences as soldiers was the making up their minds to make the great decision and enlist. This done, everything else was easy. He described his journey across the briny in the big troopship, the Olympic with several thousand men on board, his impressions of England with its charming scenery in the month of April when everything was budding into life—the lovely hedges, trees and flowers growing in the meadows and this appealed very strongly to his English friends present. He also spoke of the kindly treatment met with in England and Scotland. He then gave a detailed account of his journey in the troop train to the camping ground where they went to undergo a severe but very necessary preparation for the coming struggle that was ahead of them in Belgium and France.

March to the Trenches.
His description of the long and severe march to the trenches after landing across the channel and of his experiences during the long months which he spent there were most interesting.

Private Clark was very modest and not at all boastful in his many utterances regarding the different battles he had been engaged in finally ending up by his being wounded at Vimy Ridge, a place that has recently been captured by the British, and his removal to England after much stubborn fighting and resistance on the part of the Germans.

Private Clark had with him a large collection of war relics and at the conclusion of his address the audience were invited to the front to inspect them. The National Anthem was sung at the close of Private Clark's lecture, after which the ladies of the church supplied refreshments to all present.

Quebec would be serious. His words, which somewhat startled the house, were: "This is the most solemn moment of my life. It may be the last opportunity I may have to address the house of commons of my country. I say to you, the government, if you press this measure on my province, our people declare that the government has no mandate they will use the very bill to fight it out. We acknowledge that in the fight there will be suffering and there will be pain. We may have to go to the direct consequences. If you impose on them such legislation they are willing to go to the limit; and I tell you, sir, that I believe they will be right, and I will do as they do."

Regrets Language.
Mr. McCraney, who spoke after Mr. Gauthier, expressed regret that a member whom he had always regarded as a moderate man should have used such words.

Other speakers included Hon. Chas. Murphy, who supported the referendum act; J. H. Burnham, who favored conscription of both man power and wealth; J. A. Armstrong, of North York, who was for conscription, and J. Demars, who was against it.

Hon. George P. Graham moved the adjournment of the debate.

Arthur Hignien, solicitor general, asked why it was that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Marcell and Mr. Lapointe were so sure there was no fear of an invasion of Canada. The answer was because the defense of Canada was in France. "It is only by our success in France we can avoid invasion," he said.

Case of Alberta.
Referring to the case of Mr. Oliver who had said he was in favor of conscription and wanted an equalization of effort, Mr. Melghe described that as meaning the member for Edmonton wanted all the conscripted men to come from the province of Quebec and not from Alberta. Mr. Oliver, he said, had made the statement in favor of the province of Alberta.

Mr. Oliver rose to a point of order and said Mr. Melghe had no right to impute such a dishonorable motive to him.

Mr. Melghe contended that if he wanted equalization and Quebec had not done its share then the member should be got from the province of Quebec.

Mr. Oliver protested again that Mr. Melghe had no right to impute a dishonorable motive and the latter replied: "I will impute an honorable motive but I will impute an honorable motive."

The deputy speaker smoothed over the difficulty and the solicitor general proceeded.

He described the referendum as a haven of the disunited and a declaration of political skepticism.

Mr. Pugsley interjected that they wanted to find out the opinion of the people on the subject.

POLICE COURT

John Mortland and Wm. Michelchuk were charged with keeping a bawdy house at the corner of 5th and Peace avenue. They were convicted and remanded until the afternoon for sentence.

John Mortland and Wm. Michelchuk were each fined $100 and costs and three months' imprisonment, and in default of payment were given two months' imprisonment each by Magistrate Barclay on charges of keeping a bawdy house. They were arrested by the morality officers in a shack at the corner of 8th and Peace.

Margie Cole, a 24-year-old girl, who were charged with being in mates of the above house, were fined $50 and costs and sentenced to two months in Macdonell Jail, and in default of payment another two months are to be served.

Tom George, alias Gale, Edward McGuire and Mrs. L. Fitzpatrick alias McGuire, were committed to trial. They are charged with procuring and George has a charge of perjury against him also. The latter charge arose from the securing a license to marry Emma Sinclair, a 16-year-old girl.

WANT ROAD REPAIRED.
The residents of Local Improvement District No. 549 are calling the attention of the Edmonton officials to the bad condition of the road between sections 28 and 24, 53-25-4, a continuation of 142nd street.

Secretary Hogan says that the road to the north has been put into good condition at heavy expenditure and it is impossible for the people to use it owing to the small part inside the limits being out of repair. Last year he called the attention of the commissioners to the necessity of repairing the road, but nothing was done, and he hopes that this request will meet with a better reception.

The commissioners have taken the matter in hand, and if the repair is necessary it will be carried out.

DAMAGING TREES.

The commissioners want to give lads or any other mischievous persons warning that the police have been instructed to watch for anyone tampering with the trees growing along the boulevards, and prosecution will follow if the trees have been damaged in any way. This action has been found necessary as in a number of districts in the city the bark of the trees has been found to be ringed and cut away and the trees injured in other ways.

Gas In The Stomach Is Dangerous

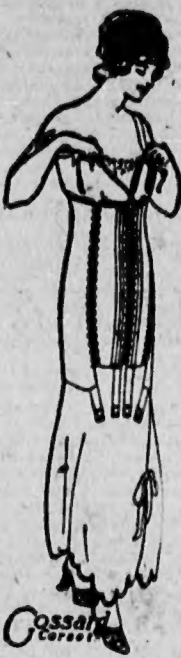

Physicians Recommend the use of Magnesia

Sufferers from indigestion or dyspepsia should remember that the presence of gas or wind in the stomach inevitably increases the acidity. This acid causes the food to ferment and the fermenting food in turn gives rise to noxious gases which distend the stomach and create the normal functions of vital internal organs, cause acute headache, interfere with the action of the heart, and charge the blood stream with deadly poisons, which in time must ruin the health.

Physicians say that to quickly dispel a dangerous accumulation of wind in the stomach and to stop the food fermentation which creates the gas, the acid in the stomach must be neutralized and that for this purpose there is nothing quite so good as a teaspoonful of pure bicarbonate of soda taken in a little water immediately after meals. This instantly neutralizes the acid, thus stopping fermentation and the formation of gas, and enables the inflamed and distended stomach to proceed with its work under natural conditions. Bicarbonate of soda is obtainable in powder or tablet form from any druggist; but as there are many different forms of magnesia it is important that the bicarbonate which the physicians prescribe should be distinctly asked for.

PAINS SHARP AND STABBING

Woman Thought She Would Die. Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Ogdensburg, Wis.—"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. ETTRA DORON, Ogdensburg, Wis.

Physicians undoubtedly did their best, battled with this case steadily and could do no more, but often the most scientific treatment is surpassed by the medicinal properties of the good old fashioned roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If any complication exists it pays to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special free advice.

COUNSEL QUITS CASE AS RESULT COURT RULING

Sensational Development At The Newsprint Investigation At Ottawa.

Ottawa, June 21.—A sensational development in the newsprint investigation before Commissioner Pringle today, when, just before the close of the forenoon sitting, W. T. Tilley, K. C., counsel for the publishers, withdrew from the case on their behalf after unsuccessfully trying to delve into the operations of companies' engagements in the export of paper from Canada. The withdrawal followed a ruling by Mr. Pringle that under the order in council his investigations were confined to the cost of production, serious price and supply of newsprint in Canada, and could not embrace in the operations of Canadian companies across the line.

There was much heated discussion upon the point between J. A. McArthur, counsel and the publishers' representation was successful to the extent of learning the names of the Canadian firms in the Canada Export Company.

Mr. J. A. McArthur, president of the Price Bros. Co., is also president of the Canadian Export Co., with Mr. Bothwell, vice, The Laurentine Co., Price Bros., Anglo-Canadian Co., and The Brampston Co.

Mr. Bothwell denied that it had anything to do with price-fixing in Canada, being, he claimed, simply a selling agent for the export trade only.

Some very interesting developments characterized the session. The manufacturers of newsprint paper in Canada, in the examination in regard to the cost of production and selling prices which they had submitted in response to a circular sent out by Commissioner Pringle.

The treasurer of one paper manufacturing company said he had used an arbitrary figure instead of the actual cost for ground wood on the instructions of the president of his company, and he had understood from the latter that the price used had been a good one.

Arbitrary Figures
In the case of one company it was shown that the use of actual cost of production of ground wood was slighted instead of the arbitrary figures which had been used by that company meant the difference on its 1914 business between a loss of $10.45 a ton and a profit of $7.27 a ton. It was brought out that even a profit of $7.27 a ton was after paying $1.50 a ton to a selling agency and allowing for depreciation, an amount that was $4 a ton higher than the amount fixed by the Federal Trade Commission of the United States.

The evidence showed that Abitibi Paper and Pulp Co., Ltd., and Spangish River Pulp and Paper Co., Ltd., whose combined output is almost one-third of the total Canadian production of newsprint paper, sell their entire product through George A. Mead and Co., of Dayton, Ohio, of which George A. Mead is president of the Spangish River Pulp and Paper Co., is practically sole proprietor.

The arrests followed the exposure of a plot to plunder all the banks and shops and assassinate the leaders of civic organizations.

Petrograd, June 21.—Martial law has been proclaimed in Tomsk, western Siberia, because of wholesale murders and robberies committed by criminals who had been granted amnesty and had joined the forces of the militant anarchists. More than 1,500 of these pardoned criminals have been arrested with about eight hundred others. Twenty persons were killed and a number wounded.

The arrests followed the exposure of a plot to plunder all the banks and shops and assassinate the leaders of civic organizations.

There was a dance at the Harrington farm on Friday night.

Many of the Bashaw people went out on Friday to the picnic at Asker. A large crowd of the school children, accompanied by their elders, boarded the morning train for Asker to attend the exhibition of school work at that place.

INNISFREE.

Bulletin Correspondence.

Things are looking up at Innisfree, as we are getting a good rain. A fine shower last night, with prospects for an all-day rain today.

There is very little wild land near the town now, as new people have come in from the western states buying it and breaking it up for a next year's crop. Some of them brought cars and gas tractors with them.

Quite a lot of new houses and barns are going up through the district. Jack Lach is building a house on his farm five miles out, in which he will install steam heat, electric lighting plant and water system.

Local U. F. A. is giving a picnic at Mr. Gully's place on July 6th. The Red Cross ladies of Lorne and Primrose neighborhoods will furnish lunch. All proceeds will go to the Red Cross.

Mrs. Archie Campbell is giving a social on June 28th for the benefit of Primrose Red Cross society.

Innisfree Oddfellows hall is now completed and lodge was held in the new hall Thursday night. Some trouble was reported, though, in getting the goat from the old hall to the new.

Quite a successful and enjoyable festival was held in the Union church on Wednesday, June 20th. The programme was short but exceedingly good for home talent.

Mr. Hogan should be wearing a broad smile these days, as there is prospects of a bumper crop on Horse Shoe ranch, the land being in a perfect state of cultivation.

Camper's will be surprised to find Birch Lake prices higher this year than in previous years.

A number of farmers have indulged in an auto this spring.

Innisfree, June 17th.

Had Awful Attacks of Heart Trouble FOR 5 OR 6 YEARS

Diseases and disorders of the heart and nervous system have become frightfully prevalent of late years.

One of the most common of these is the heart trouble which is caused by a breaking down of the nervous system.

We do not desire to unnecessarily alarm anyone, but to sound a word of warning.

When the heart begins to beat irregularly, palpitations and throbs, has shooting pains through it, it is time to stop and think.

To all sufferers from heart and nerve troubles Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills can give prompt and permanent relief.

Mrs. Frank Arsenau, Newcastle, N. B., writes: "I had awful attacks of heart trouble for the past five or six years, as I had tried many kinds of medicine without getting any better I decided to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial, and to my surprise I found ease from the second dose. I continued taking them until I had used six boxes, and now I feel as well as can be."

"At the present time my sister is using them for nervousness and finds great comfort by their use."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c or three boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto.

A Two-Day Sale of a Special Purchase of "TOOKE" SHIRTS, Fri. & Sat. Offering $1.50 to $2.00 Values for 95c

HOW we come to be offering $1.50 to $2.00 values in these famous Tooke shirts at 95c is explained by the fact that they are the maker's broken lines, and hence undesirable stock, for the simple reason when orders are turned in by the firm's travellers for certain patterns, they are only to be had in certain sizes, and dissatisfaction is the result.

So the maker offered them to our Men's Wear Buyer, when on a recent purchasing trip in the East, at a special price. There are about 25 dozen in the lot, and although all sizes are not to be had in each pattern, all sizes 14 to 17½ are represented in the lot.

"AS USUAL"

The Journal informs its readers that The Bulletin is opposed to the proposal to tax incomes over $3,000 per year, and also to the taxation of excess profits. That, of course, is simple and deliberate lying.

The Journal excuses itself from the task of explaining why it is "quite impossible" for Sir Robert Borden to accept the proposal to submit the conscription question by referendum. Its modesty is understandable. There is no reason aside from politics which makes it "impossible" for Sir Robert to do so. To concede a referendum would deprive Sir Robert of the chance of running a general election on the conscription issue, which is what he has been steering for from the beginning.

MORE COMMISSIONS

The demand for price regulation is producing either results or the pretence of results, which will appear in time. A fuel commissioner has been appointed, and now a commission is to be created to control grain and flour prices. There is room for useful activities on the part of both; but if we are to have a separate commissioner or board of commissioners to regulate each separate commodity that has been made the means of exploitation the remedy may get to be worse than the disease. There will be no great advantage to the public if the prices of necessities are regulated down but if the saving thus effected has to be handed over to maintain a standing army of commissioners of this, that and something else. If one controller is capable of regulating prices in the United States, one similar official ought to be able to regulate prices in Canada; without making the expenses of regulation heavy enough to discount the financial results. And experience has not taught the Canadian people to entertain any large hope of reduced prices through the activities of Government commissions. That High Cost of Living Commission is still drawing salary, so far as anybody knows.

WHAT THEY HAVE THEY HOLD

The President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association defends the munition-makers against the charge of profiteering, and says that any of them who have made money out of war contracts have well earned it. That all depends, of course, on what one considers money well earned under the prevailing circumstances. Munition making firms have been declaring in prospectuses that their profits have been running as high as seventy per cent on a year's turn-over. In the opinion of the president of their organization they may be entirely entitled to this money. In the opinion of a good many other people, to whom the war has meant sacrifice and nothing but sacrifice, they have simply seized upon the extremity of its need as an opportunity to rob the country, and should be made to hand over the spoils. The statement of their president indicates that this munition-makers have no intention of doing without a fight. If the public want restitution they will have to demand it of Parliament, and keep on demanding it until Parliament responds.

DO IT NOW

The reply to the demand for the conscription of wealth is "Wait till the war is over; wealth can be taxed any time." Why wait till the war is over? Is it true that wealth can be taxed any time? Certainly not, as regards the particular accumulations of wealth which most deserve conscription. The gentlemen who are heaping up unearned fortunes out of the war sacrifice of the nation understand quite well what they are doing, and that there is a growing demand that the spoils be recovered to the people from whom they are being taken and put into the war chest. Where will these fortunes be by the time the war has ended? Trust the fore-sighted profiteers to have them by that time in some place or form where the Government cannot come at them. A good many of these sudden accumulations will have been squandered in riotous living that is being so evidently induced by the flood of easy money. More of them will have been transferred to third parties, have passed into the hands of heirs, have been sequestered either in the country or out of it; and the documentary evidence of how the money was got, and how much there was of it, will have been duly destroyed. As tangible and taxable entities these war fortunes will have vanished from the scene, and the possibility of conscripting them be gone forever. In so far as these profiteered fortunes are concerned conscription postponed will be conscription denied. They must be taxed while they are in the process of accumulation or they can never be taxed equitably and in any discriminating way. It is a case of now or never.

THE REGRET.

The one regret is that railways cannot be laid in this country as easily as they are being ripped up.

A FOLLOWER.

The new King of Greece has taken the Allies by surprise with a proclamation that he intends to "follow the brilliant policy of his revered father." In that event the sooner he is told to follow his revered father into exile the better.

A NATIONAL CHANGE.

The British Parliament has decided by a tremendous majority that it is safe to allow the women of Great Britain to vote. That traditionally conservative legislature has surely undergone a remarkable change of opinion during the past five years. Not less remarkable is the fact that comparatively few expected, or wanted, the Parliament to do anything other.

ARE AUSTRALIANS QUITTERS?

Hon. Thomas Crothers says that to adopt the proposal for a referendum on conscription would be to announce to the world that Canadians are quitters. The people of Australia were allowed to express their opinion as to conscription by referendum. Does Mr. Crothers therefore hold that the Australians are quitters? Nobody else believes it.

GET BUSY.

The British food controller says: "We are doing what we can off our own bat, by increasing home production and decreasing consumption, but in the main the solution of the primary problem of supply lies in the hands of our American Allies and Canada. I am sure they will not let us down."

POLITICS AS USUAL.

A Government member from Quebec proposes that the conscription bill be given the six months hoist—otherwise killed. His proposal is no doubt in line with the wishes of the whole Nationalist contingent, and seemingly of members generally on both sides of the House who have to answer to Quebec electors. The proposal is introduced at this stage in hope of leading the Opposition into a trap and inducing Opposition members to vote against conscription, Sir Wilfrid Laurier included.

Opposed to conscription themselves on principle, the Nationalist wing of the Government forces are being used in an attempt to get the Opposition to line up with them, and to thus run counter to conscription sentiment in the

OTHER PROVINCES.

Could that be done, it is calculated, the Liberal party would be beaten at the polls, and the Nationalist allies would continue to enjoy the spoils of victory for another five years in the distribution of the Government patronage in Quebec. Conscription is certainly being worked for all it is worth as a political factor.

ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Bulletin to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner. To receive attention, every inquiry must bear some name and address of the questioner. Tittle information is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

Standing in Quebec.

How many Liberals and Conservatives were returned for Quebec province at the 1911 federal election? J. F. B. Edmonton.

Thirty-seven Liberals were elected and 27 Conservatives, the popular vote being Liberal 164,274, Conservative 159,262.

To Join Reserve Militia.

What are the qualifications to join reserve militia? A. H. Edmonton.

Any man of physical fitness is qualified to join the reserve militia. The physical test for home defence is not severe.

Longest Bridges.

What are the six longest bridges in the world? W. B. L. Edmonton.

Tay, Scotland, 2 miles, 73 yds.; Ohio, United States, 2 miles; Victoria, Canada, 1 mile, 1320 yards; Forth, Scotland, 1 mile, 1005 yards; Missouri, United States, 1 mile, 734 yds.; Queensborough, United States, 1 mile, 740 yds.

LEGAL INQUIRIES

Legal questions will be answered in the columns of The Bulletin, after being submitted to The Bulletin's own legal representatives. Write on one side of the paper only, be brief. Send stamped envelope for reply.

Please answer the following questions through your valuable paper: 1. Has the owner of a bull, whether pure bred or scrub, the right to let him run on the range at all seasons? 2. A owes B $200; B holds A's note for the amount. A has no money but what is exempted at present, but he is going to get his patent to his homestead pretty soon. As soon as he secures patent, can B force him to give him (B) a mortgage on his homestead for the amount? E. S.

1. No, unless a permit has been obtained from the department of agriculture. 2. B cannot make A give him a mortgage on his homestead. He can only sue him for the debt and issue execution after obtaining judgment, and so long as A lives on the homestead it will be exempt.

Revolution and Renaissance

I read the news from Russia today. Despondent for I seemed to hear the sigh of children—questioning the How and Why of Poverty and Riches—told that they were not to think and reason, but obey.

And all at once, the Dawn that made the sky bright, darkened into gray. Was this the end of aspiration high? To glimpse the promised land and then to die. Clubbed by the giant they had vowed to slay?

But turning to the window, like a gleam of gold, I saw the first frail crocus lift. An eye to heaven; and heard, as through a rift, A merlin song cascading Summer Dream.

The crocus seemed to hear the merlin song. Interpreting the dream of Mother Earth. And all the hope she typified in birth: The heart-thrills, faint and feeble through the long Repose of Winter, vibrant now and strong. And changing dirges into songs of birth.

The swinging bulb became a golden gong. As if it held, within its slender girth, The crown of rivers merging to a firth. And singing with the immemorial throng. Of Ocean's choirs, Creation's primal praise.

And all the joy of love and charm of life: Till Faith foresaw the end of storm and strife. And basked in cloudless moons of Summer days. —Gabriel Setoun, in the Scotsman.

So far as America is concerned, however, the case of the tunnel is not obscure. It is nakedly clear. The ice has been broken in the relationship of the British and American people. But we do not note any essential difference in our public relations with the Canadian dominion, and we are sure that the Canadians have not adopted Washington as a second capital. We can never regulate our political or our fiscal affairs on any other basis than that of our own absolutely independent existence. The world-wide convergences of the British mother wit he children of her dominions will never have attractions for us, nor will any zollverein whatsoever have any terrors for us.

FRICTION BETWEEN GERMANY AND ALLY

Indications That Germans and Austrians Are Not Pulling Well Together

London, June 21.—Increasing friction between Germany and Austria is indicated by an article in the Frankfurter Zeitung which points out the undesirability of permitting a German irredenta, comprising 10,000,000 Germans living in Austria. The newspaper argues that the residents of German inhabited sections of Austria cannot be good Austrians and good Germans simultaneously. It intimates that these German portions of Austria should become German and that Austrian Poland should be included in the rehabilitated Kingdom of Poland, though it is not suggested that the German parts of Poland should be included.

This is the most pointed expression on the subject yet given in the semi-official German press, though a considerable number of suggestions have been made lately looking toward Germany's expansion at the expense of Austria after the war.

BULLETIN CIRCULATION IS GUARANTEED

By Taking and Paying for Membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations

An Association of National Advertisers, Advertising Agencies, Magazines and Newspapers, "The Edmonton Bulletin" has joined with 43 other Canadian daily newspapers and over 600 daily papers in the United States to give its advertisers honest guaranteed circulation.

Membership gives the A. B. C. the right to send its representative to audit the circulation of the members, just as banks are examined by trained auditors. Just as the "Pure Food Law" forced the manufacturers to give the housewife full weight, and to label products correctly, so membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations forces newspapers and other periodicals to tell the truth about their circulation.

Unfortunately, a membership in the A. B. C. is not compulsory, and in fact the members pay dues for the privilege of belonging, so that only those newspapers who are not afraid of an examination by an experienced auditor are members. However, the leading newspapers of Canada and the United States are already enrolled in the fight for honest circulation statements, and eventually advertisers everywhere will insist as national advertisers are now doing, that circulation statements made by a publisher, or his representative, should be subject to verification, just as the statements of banks, or by private institutions to banks as a basis for credit, are audited.

Recently a representative of the AUDIT BUREAU of CIRCULATIONS made an investigation of the circulation of the BULLETIN. He checked paper bills—obtained the cash receipts from circulation from the cash book—checked the receipts from the Edmonton postoffice for money paid for postage—examined the reports of circulation men—questioned the carrier boys—checked their accounts for a year—checked the mailing list, and by various other methods determined what its actual paid circulation was.

He eliminated every copy given to employees, every exchange, every copy furnished a foreign advertiser, every copy given a correspondent; in fact, every copy that was not actually paid for in real money. His report has been released, and it shows that the

That's the service the Bulletin is giving. Its circulation statements have been tried, and found to be true.

Easy Victory

ST. LOUIS, June 21.—St. Louis could do nothing with Tony today and Cincinnati won, 7 to 1. Manager Huggins was out of the field by Empire Byron for protesting a decision on balls and strikes in the seventh, and a moment later Bethel was ordered to leave the field. A crowd of about 300 waited outside the park for Byron after the game and it was necessary for the police to use force to disperse them. No one was hurt.

Three Hits

BOSTON, June 21.—Boston made three hits, all singles, off Terau today and was shut out by New York, 4 to 0. The home team hit the ball hard, but this was offset by the visitors' sensational fielding.

Bunched Hits

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—Brooklyn bunched hits off Alexander in the second and third innings and won today's game, 4 to 2. Marquard was very effective in all but one inning and was well supported.

Won Easily

PITTSBURG, June 21.—Chicago easily won from Pittsburg today, 12 to 4. Miller and Ames were ineffective. Poor support was a factor.

HAD BOILS

For Six Months.

B.B. DROVE THEM AWAY.

When the blood becomes impure the very first symptoms which manifest themselves are a breaking out of various forms of skin trouble such as boils, pimples, sores, etc., and to get rid of these troubles you must cleanse the blood thoroughly with a good blood remedy.

The best blood cleansing remedy on the market today is Burdock Blood Bitters. Thousands of people from one end of Canada to the other have used it during the past forty years, and have nothing but words of praise for its cleansing properties.

Mr. Rufus Beers, Upper Main River, N.B., writes: "I want to say a few words about your medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters. I had boils for over six months and sometimes was so bad I could not work. I tried lots of cures but nothing would drive them away for good until I took B.B. In a short time I was all better. It is a dandy medicine. I keep it in the house all the time."

Burdock Blood Bitters is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont., but so well and favorably is it known that there are many imitations on the market. See that our name appears on the wrapper.

Sporting Facts and Fancies

The Phillies have got a new system, and systems, you know, are great little things to have, especially when they work. This one seems to be doing just that. Here it is: Pat Moran is working five pitchers in rotation and the result, for the Phillies is gratifying. They are garnering a greater average of games than ever. Maybe it wouldn't be a bad idea for some of the other baseball Napoleons to follow these Moranian tactics.

Like unto a fishing net that gathers up everything before it in the deep sea, so is Old Boy Pipp's catching hand. It seems as though he grabs everything that flies through the air within a radius of several miles of where he stands. The major leagues show no better first basemen than Pipp.

To watch Frank Baker play these days one would never think that only recently he recovered from an injury. Frank has gotten into the game in earnest and is displaying a mighty fine brand of ball.

Among the most prominent American optimists is Clark Griffith, whose Washington club is struggling with mighty kicks from being precipitated into the nethermost cellar. Griffith is also one of the leading members of the "Never Say Die" club. He is so certain that the Washingtons will finish in the first division. Well, nothing is impossible, particularly in baseball.

If there is any young gentleman in the audience who thinks he can hit a baseball hard and timely, let him hasten at once and seek out Bill Donovan, manager of the Yankees, who is looking high and low for just such a he. The Yankees, in other words, need some heavy artillery, and that is very scarce indeed.

Johnny Dundee is still kicking his chops and smacking his lips in anticipation of the next victim to come around and fall a victim to his paw. At the same time Joe Welling is still nursing a body and a mind which were made very sore in his recent encounter at New York with the aforementioned gentleman. Johnny Dundee has certainly come back. Dundee was always on the offensive, to use a timely expression, and the light and heavy artillery of his fists gave his opponent no rest. The only time that Welling had a real chance was in the now famous second round, when he landed a terrific right on Dundee's jaw, which made the recipient stagger. Had Welling followed this up there might have been a different story to tell.

There was a young man in Calcutta,
Who rubbed his whole body with butter,
And the sun made him roast.
"I feel like buttered toast,"
Was all the poor fellow could utter.

Lee Fehl, manager of the Cleveanders, is looking around for an outfield utility man and has his eye on Sam Crawford, veteran outfielder of the Tigers, for a long time. But there's nothing doing. He can't have Sam, at least not for the present. President Navin of the Detroit Tigers knows that he has a good man in Crawford, otherwise he would not have rejected the offer of James G. Dunn, owner of the Cleveanders, to buy the veteran at a liberal figure. Crawford is getting a salary of $7,500 a year and Navin is glad to pay it, despite the fact that lately Crawford has not been doing much except polishing the bench. It was in 1913 that Navin got hold of Sam and signed him up for a four-year contract, at the above mentioned figure. Sam is now serving the last year of that contract, waiting for pinch hitting opportunities to come along and give him something to do. At that his average is pretty low, being somewhere around .130. He is said to be the highest salaried pinch hitter in the history of baseball.

Despite the fact that the war has called out a great many football stars for service in the army or the navy, there is every reason to believe that the colleges will perform on the gridiron as usual this coming fall. Of all games football is recognized as the one which, more than any other, brings out the qualities of aggressiveness, courage and generalship and in every way develops many traits. There has, of course, been talk here and there of discontinuing college athletics but it is sincerely to be hoped that such a step will not be taken unless it is absolutely necessary.

QUITS LACROSSE

In a recent game at Vancouver, Harry Pickering, the famous lacrosse star, had his left shoulder put out of action and will be out of the game for the year. Pickering is a former Toronto player. He journeyed west a few years ago and proved a tower of strength to the Vancouver club. His gameness was one of his qualities.

RUSSELL HAS BEEN SOLD TO BROOKLYN

Vancouver Pitcher Left Thursday Night For National League Team.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 21.—Word was received tonight from Bob Brown, president and manager of the Vancouver Baseball Club, of the Northwestern League, that he has sold Pitcher Russell to the Brooklyn Club, of the National League. Russell is a left hander and left Butte tonight to join the club.

GIANTS' BEST BET

Ferdinand Stubbins Schupp, the southpaw chucker of the Giants, has won himself a home under the shelter of Coogan's Bluff.

Last fall, after he was handed a grilling by Field Marshal McGraw for looking at baseball as a frivolous sort of business, he started to pitch ball. He settled down to real work, and since that time he has been building up a name for himself. He won his first six games with the Giants this year, and from the form he has shown he should be good for between twenty and thirty victories before the season ends. Schupp is young and strong. He has wonderful control for a southpaw, and an assortment of benders that keeps the batters in hot water all the time. Best of all, Schupp has settled down to study the batters and to absorb all that McGraw can teach him about the fine points of the game.

PLAYERS HELPING

If anybody says the baseball players are not helping Uncle Sam get in trim for the war, let him come out and be taught the error of his opinions. Jimmy Archer, catcher, and Jimmy Sheppard of the Cubs are the busiest pair of baseball players in any league these days. They are both up at the United States naval training station at Great Lakes, Ill., teaching the recruits how to play baseball. The arrangements for this instruction were made between President Charles H. Weggman, of the Chicago National League club, and the commandant of the training station. Manager Mitchell will therefore have to worry along without his able assistant, Jimmy Sheppard, for a while at least.

Where You Cannot Prophesy—PREPARE!

NOT even the best-informed man in government or business circles dares to attempt a prophecy of conditions after the war. We hope for the best—meantime wise men are preparing now for anything!

How?

By regulating their expenditures according to their actual needs rather than by their prosperity—by husbanding the surplus—and by investing to the limit in Canadian War Loans that help so much to maintain present prosperity.

Money saved and loaned to Canada by Canadians is a two-fold safeguard for the future. The lenders will benefit directly from the excellent interest return and absolute security—and indirectly because the interest thus kept in Canada will help to keep business good after the war.

Canadian War Savings Certificates are issued in denominations of $25, $50 and $100, repayable in three years. At the purchase prices of $21.50, $43 and $86 respectively, they yield over 5% interest. Buy them at any Bank or Money Order Post Office.

Adventures of Uncle Wiggily

Uncle Wiggily and the Baby

Copyright, 1917, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"Well," said Uncle Wiggily Longears, the rabbit gentleman, to himself, as he stood in the middle of the woods and looked around. "I don't seem to be going to have any adventures today at all. I wonder what the matter is? Something was wrong, that is certain."

The bunny uncle had been hopping along all the morning, and part of the afternoon, and not a single adventure had he found. Almost always something happened to him, but this time was different.

He had not met Alice from Wonderland, nor any of her queer relations, and Uncle Wiggily had not seen any of his animal boy or girl friends, so the rabbit gentleman was beginning to feel a bit lonesome.

Then, all of a sudden, before you could count a million providing you had time and wanted to, Uncle Wiggily saw, fluttering from a tree, what he thought was a flag.

"That's queer," he said to himself, only out loud. "I wonder if any of my mosquito enemies have made a camp here under the trees, and are flying the flag before they come to bite me? I'll go closer and see."

Uncle Wiggily was very brave, you know, even if he only had his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch instead of the talcum powder popgun that shot bean-bag bullets. So up he went to where he thought he saw the mosquito enemy's flag fluttering, and my goodness me sakes alive and some chocolate cake ginger snaps! It wasn't the mosquito flag at all, which shows that Uncle Wiggily was not afraid until he was sure what a thing is—and sometimes not then.

"Why, it's a lady's veil!" cried Uncle Wiggily, as he looked at it. He fluttering thing. And, as he said that someone, who was sitting on an old log, turned around, and—there was the Wonderland Duchess herself—the queer, stout lady who looked like a barrel of flour—very rich you know.

"Oh, hello, Uncle Wiggily!" called the Duchess, who is a sort of princess grown up. "I'm glad to see you. I have a friend of yours here with me!"

"Do you mean Alice?" asked the bunny.

"No, this time it's the Baby," answered the Duchess, and then Uncle Wiggily saw that she had a live baby in her arms up to her neck. The baby was upside down, not the arms of the Duchess, though perhaps it would have been better that way.

"Bless me!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "That's no way to hold a child. I mean, 'Oh, indeed!' 'Oh, indeed!' sort of sniffling proud like. 'Then if you know so much about holding babies take this one. I have to go make a chocolate pudding,' and before Uncle Wiggily could stop her she tossed the baby to him as if it were a ball and ran away, crying:

"Alice! Alice! Who has the rice pudding?"

"Oh, my!" Uncle Wiggily started to say, but that was all he had time for, as he had to catch the baby. This was a good thing, I think, cried the bunny uncle as he smoothed out the baby's clothes and looked around for a nursing bottle or a rattle box. And, as he was doing this, and while the baby was trying to close its lips, which it had opened to cry with when it found itself skedaddling through the air—while this was going on, someone gave a loud laugh, and Uncle Wiggily, looking around in surprise, saw Alice from Wonderland.

"Well!" said the bunny. "I'm glad to see you, but what is there to laugh at?"

"The baby!" said Alice, sort of choking like, for she was trying to talk and laugh at the same time.

"Why should you laugh at a poor baby, whom no one seems to know how to care for?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh! But look what it's turning into!" said Alice, pointing. The bunny uncle looked at what he held in his arms. It was a wiggling, twisting and squirming in such a funny way, squealing its dress all up around its face that for a moment Uncle Wiggily could not get a good look, but, when he did, he cried:

"My goodness me sakes alive and some bacon gravy! It's a little pig!"

ing around a little pig. Of course I also pigs, and I'm very fond of my friends. Curley and Squaky Twenty-Tail, the little grunter. But this baby pig—

And, just as Uncle Wiggily said that, who should come along but a bad old skinned, scaly, humped-tailed alligator, walking on his hind legs, with his two front claws stretched out in front of him.

"Ah, ha!" cried the bad alligator, who had promised to be good, but who had been keeping his word. "Ah, ha! At last I have caught you, Uncle Wiggily, and Wonderland Alice, too!"

He was just going to grab them when the little Baby Pig, who had been squirming very hard all the while, finally squirmed out of Uncle Wiggily's paws, fell to the ground, and then, running right between the legs of the alligator, as pigs do, he ran, the squealing chap upset the bad, unpleasant creature, knocking him over in a frontward somersault and also backward, peppercorn.

"Oh, my goodness!" cried the skinned, scaly alligator. "I'm killed!" Which he wasn't at all, but he thought so, and this frightened him so much that he ran away and didn't catch Uncle Wiggily or Alice after all, for which I'm glad.

And if the puppy dog doesn't take all the bark off the sassafras tree and leave none for the pussy cat to polish her claws on, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the Mock Turtle.

Dear Uncle Tom—I think it is time I was writing my letter to you very much. I showed it to my school friends, and they like it too. I suppose all the children have their garden at their school. I don't think there will be many more like this year on account of the frost. I went to a picnic at our town, Bulwark, the 24th of May. There is to be a picnic at Alice's first.

Dear Uncle Tom—I have not written to you for a long time again. How are you getting along now? I am going to school every day. There is just two more weeks till holidays and I will be glad when the holidays do come. We have all our seedling done now and I think nearly all of the farmers are finished. Well, I will write again soon.

Dear Uncle Tom—I have joined your Aladdin Club, and hope you will send me my button as soon as possible. Ever since I saw the name of the club, I have been thinking of joining it. I will try and write you every month at least. I have gone to school about four years and I am in the seventh grade, and hope to pass next examination. If any boy would like to correspond with me, about my own age, which is thirteen years and six. So I guess I will ring off now.

Dear Uncle Tom—I received your lovely badge all right and I thank you very much for it. I have got my paper all filled up and I am sending it back to you. I will be very pleased to get the present you told me about.

Do any of the members know how to play croquet. I think it is a fine game. I am a member of the club, and I am wearing my badge all the time. I think I will close for this time.

Dear Uncle Tom—I want to join your club. I am six years old. My sister's name is Berna. I am in grade one. I have a primer. I have two cousins. Their names are the same as ours.

When the sun has gained its highest point, that is, on June 21, when the sun is in the summer, the Shoshoni Indians hold their sun dance. This dance has been the subject of many legends, but still the Indians hold it, and their only concession being to change the name to "sand dance" or "hail dance." In that manner hoping to deceive its opponents. At the appointed time the tribe gathers at some selected spot. A circular space is cleared and in the center is placed a long, forked post. This post is the object of the most elaborate ceremonies, being bathed in holy water and being dedicated or consecrated to the sun. It is supposed to embody the Great Spirit and to contain the essence of that deity sufficiently to cure all human ills or confer any favor. The arena encircling the sacred post is reserved for the dancers, which only those participating in the dance are allowed inside. The dance begins with due ceremony. It is a wild, weird and fascinating performance, an orgy in which nearly naked Indians for three days and nights without cessation, without food or water, dance in mute supplication to the long-forked post. Through it all rises the chanting of singers, the dull thumping of a relay of drums, and the shrill whistle of the dancers. A traveller several years ago witnessed this dance, which white men have rarely been fortunate enough to attend. The traveller saw one of the dancers, already in a weakened condition from long illness, die from exposure and exhaustion on the second day of the ceremony, and he died in the belief that the performance in which he was engaged would restore him to health. Several strong men collapsed the third day and were carried from the enclosed circle in a dying condition. The dancers, whose physical strength enables them to endure the terrible strain of seventy-two hours of continuous dancing, become heroes in the tribe and are much revered. They are all other human beings, are fond of hero worship.

Sidelights on the War

Russia Repeating Scenes of the French Revolution

The scenes enacted during the French revolution are being repeated today in Russia and already there are mutterings among the people demanding the life of the former Czar, as the French proletariat demanded the lives of those who had ruled and ruined them. The meagre despatches coming from Russia tell of the Czar's stoicism in his present condition as a prisoner in the Alexandrofsky palace, from where, but three months ago, he directed the destinies of 180,000,000 people. But simple imprisonment doesn't seem to satisfy the now free people of Russia. They demand punishment. They demand punishment for so many of his former subjects, or death. The hotbed of the demand for punishment is Saratov, and the placards which recently appeared there, on which were written, "Trial for Nicholas II," have been spread throughout Russia. Meanwhile the ex-Czar and his family are being closely watched and prevented from communicating with each other. And even those who are keeping guard over them are being watched. Nicholas is said to be fascinated on the subject of the world in general and the affairs of the world in particular. The former Czarina reads religious works. She is said to be fond of the subject. The children make bandages for the wounded. They are all shut off from the outside world, and whatever knowledge they gain of the affairs of the world is through the daily papers. The regime at the palace prison is very severe. Every step the prisoners take is watched by a dozen eyes. Meanwhile their fate hangs in the balance and rests with the Russian people.

Little Stories of Big Men

JUDGE R. S. LOVETT.

The heads of railroads are usually big men. They've got to be to hold their jobs. One of the biggest among them is Judge R. S. Lovett, president of the Southern Pacific railroad. The great property built up by the late S. H. Harriman. Judge Lovett was born in San Jacinto, Texas, on June 22, 1860, and went to work on the railroads at a very early age. While he knows the ins and outs of the road, from rail splitting to traffic management, his specialty is a railroad lawyer in the country. His father was a farmer and many a weary hour Robert Lovett spent helping his father do chores about the place. The family wanted the young man to become a physician, but the law attracted him and his will prevailed then as it has done since. His determination to enter the legal profession brought about an extraordinary change in his life. Lovett and his father, the young man went to a neighboring farm and hired himself out to work by day and study by night. Then came the time when the country was being cleared through the country where the farm lay on which Lovett was working. The railroad builders paid better wages than the farmers, so Lovett applied for and got a job. They gave him an axe and told him to go along with a gang that was digging up stumps. When he was put to work cutting ties, he found himself with a pocket full of money which he had saved. He decided to go to Houston, where there was a high school. He attended this for a year. At that time he attended school by day and studied law by night. When his money gave out, he went back to his own neighborhood and got a job in a general store. He clerked for $10 a month and board and perhaps got the boss's old clothes. His most important work was to take down to the depot of the railroad which he had helped build, the Houston East and West Texas, and bring back boxes and barrels to the store. Then came the day when he began railroading in earnest. He was made station agent at Shepherd. He made good and was ordered to Houston as clerk in the general freight office. Meanwhile he kept up his law studies, and when he was admitted to the bar, he quit the clerking job. He associated himself with Charles Stewart, then a member of Congress, and soon became counsel to the railroad he had clerked for. In 1891 he became general counsel for the Texas and Pacific and later became chief legal adviser to the Southern Pacific. When E. H. Harriman took over that railroad Lovett was made general counsel to the road and later was appointed to the same position for the entire Harriman system. Then he became head of these roads as chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific and other properties.

Dear Uncle Tom—I have joined your Aladdin Club, and hope you will send me my button as soon as possible. Ever since I saw the name of the club, I have been thinking of joining it. I will try and write you every month at least. I have gone to school about four years and I am in the seventh grade, and hope to pass next examination. If any boy would like to correspond with me, about my own age, which is thirteen years and six. So I guess I will ring off now.

Dear Uncle Tom—I received your lovely badge all right and I thank you very much for it. I have got my paper all filled up and I am sending it back to you. I will be very pleased to get the present you told me about.

Do any of the members know how to play croquet. I think it is a fine game. I am a member of the club, and I am wearing my badge all the time. I think I will close for this time.

Dear Uncle Tom—I want to join your club. I am six years old. My sister's name is Berna. I am in grade one. I have a primer. I have two cousins. Their names are the same as ours.

When the sun has gained its highest point, that is, on June 21, when the sun is in the summer, the Shoshoni Indians hold their sun dance. This dance has been the subject of many legends, but still the Indians hold it, and their only concession being to change the name to "sand dance" or "hail dance." In that manner hoping to deceive its opponents. At the appointed time the tribe gathers at some selected spot. A circular space is cleared and in the center is placed a long, forked post. This post is the object of the most elaborate ceremonies, being bathed in holy water and being dedicated or consecrated to the sun. It is supposed to embody the Great Spirit and to contain the essence of that deity sufficiently to cure all human ills or confer any favor. The arena encircling the sacred post is reserved for the dancers, which only those participating in the dance are allowed inside. The dance begins with due ceremony. It is a wild, weird and fascinating performance, an orgy in which nearly naked Indians for three days and nights without cessation, without food or water, dance in mute supplication to the long-forked post. Through it all rises the chanting of singers, the dull thumping of a relay of drums, and the shrill whistle of the dancers. A traveller several years ago witnessed this dance, which white men have rarely been fortunate enough to attend. The traveller saw one of the dancers, already in a weakened condition from long illness, die from exposure and exhaustion on the second day of the ceremony, and he died in the belief that the performance in which he was engaged would restore him to health.
